Suggestions for our Town

The Times-Virginian suggests that there are a number of things that our town needs. And since it is Spring, when new life comes to everything and everybody, we hope that some of these suggestions may be realized. Here's our list:

We need a functioning chamber of commerce. The business and the historic possibilities here are dormant without an active and alert chamber of commerce and we suggest that the organization be county wide in its set-up, with sufficient membership fees to enable a partial salary to the secretary and the financing of needed publicity and enterprise.

We need an active Parent -Teacher Association. Hinging around the school are scores of community prjects that the Association could put over. Not the least of these is the improvement and beautification of the school grounds, many times started, but never completed.

We need an active troop of Boy Scounts of America. The biggest problem is an interested troop committee. The boys are willing.

We need an accredited chapter of the Woman's Clubs of America. No organization in the nation has fostered nobler achievements than the Woman's Club.

We need an active volunteer fire company, supported by the community and eventually resulting in the housing of the company and engine in attractive quarters and the development of fine civic spirit.

We need proper identification of our town's attractions along all the highways in this section of Virginia, directing tourists to one of the state's greatest yet most neglected shrines.

Finally, for the present list, we need to use the above stepping stones as a means toward securing of more PAY-ROLLS in Appomattox. With a plentiful supply of labor and other attractions, there is no reason why facuries or other plants cannot be brought here and bring with them some fifty new families. We need at least fifty new families on weekly pay-roll.

Given a fine base of business and living security and live civ clubs, then we believe any will prosper socially and its spiritual life can develop. Now, we'll publish your suggestions!

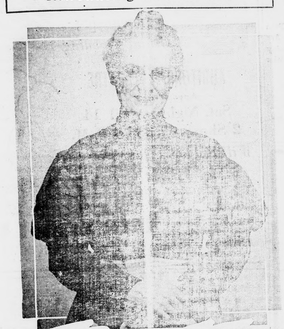
Introducing Ma Perkins



EVERY afternoon except Saturday and Sunday comes a break in the endless chain of household tasks. Thousands of women drop whatever they are doing. Thousands of radios snap on. Ma Perkins is on the air.

It's hard to tell why so many women listen to Ma Perkins' program. Perhaps it's because 'Ma' never preaches or tells them how to do this and that.

But it's more likely because Ma Perkins has come to be a friend. She is as much a part of the life of millions of women as Mrs. Jones or Mrs. Smith across the street. She's real.

And so, "Ma's" struggles to support her children, to keep her house going, and run the humble business left her by her husband, have become their struggles, too.

Perhaps in that common bond of sympathy between Ma Perkins and these women lies the real secret of her popularity—of housework forgotten for fifteen minutes, five afternoons a week, in millions of homes throughout the country.

Ma Perkins is on the air every day but Saturday and Sunday, at these times, over NBC stations: For the East, 3 to 3:15 (Eastern Standard Time).

For the West, 2:30 to 2:45 (Central Standard Time); 2:30 to 2:45 (Rocky Mountain Time) and 1:30 to 1:45 (Pacific Coast Time)—except KSD, St. Louis, 2:00 to 2:15 (CST).

Production Loan Are Now Available To Farmdrs

An entirely new service for farmers, one that is designed to be permanent is now being made available through the Farm Credit Administration in the production credit associations that are now forming throughout the country.

These credit production associations do not lend government money as they are not charity institutions but they are designed to serve as business credit institutions for business minded farmers. Loans needed to buy work stock, fertilizer, seed, machinery, for purpose of dairy or poultry farming, or for any other expense incurred for general agricultural purposes, may be obtained from a production credit association as conveniently as from any carefully managed bank.

Most of the loans will run from 3 to 15 months, depending upon the length of time required for growing the crop or livestock which the loan is made to produce. Under certain conditions and for certain types of loans they may run for 18 months to three years. The minimum loan is $50.00. A loan may be made at the beginning of the season for an amount that may be needed throughout the entire year but need not be used except as needed. Interest is charged, however, only for the time the money is actually in use. Caution will be exercised to prevent over extension of credit so that the farmers might not assume too heavy burden of indebtedness.

These production credit associations are farmer owned and farmer managed. Each farmer securing a loan must buy stock in the association equal to $5.00 on each $100.00 or fraction thereof his loan. For instance for loan of $125.00 he will be required to buy two shares for $10.00 worth of stock. Each borrower has one vote in the management of the affairs of the association and only one, regardless of the amount of stock he owns.

In the early 14th century women saved their small change to buy pins, the sale of which was allowed only on January 1st and 2nd each year . . . hence, Pin Money.

Black-Draught For Dizziness, Headache Due To Constipation

"I have used Thedford's Black-Draught several years and find it splendid," writes Mr. G. W. Holley, of St. Paul, Va. "I take it for dizziness or headache (due to constipation). I have never found anything better. MEDICAL ADVICE

If you want to

. . . keep the bowel action regular and comfortable

. . . make constipated spells rare as colds

. . . avoid danger of bowel accident

—use a gentle laxative

Can constipation be overcome? "Yes!" say medical men. "Yes!" declare thousands who have followed their advice and know.

You are not apt to cure your constipation with salts, pills and the like or any habit-forming cathartic. But you can overcome habitual constipation by gentle regulation with a reliable bland laxative. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has helped millions of people just as it is helping others in a few weeks' time.

Its very taste tells you syrup pepsin is wholesome. A delightful laxative, it will not cause griping nor other disagreeable effects. Safe for expectant mothers, nursing mothers and children. Can be had at any druggist's. Ready for use in big bottles.

The right liquid laxative will bring a perfect movement, with no discomfort at the time, or afterward.

The wrong cathartic may keep you constipated as long as you keep on using it!

An invalid may need a laxative. Read the directions in any laxative you take. If it contains a doubtful drug, don't take it. If you don't know what is in it, don't change it. The formula of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is stated plainly on the label; fresh herbs, pure pepsin, active senna.

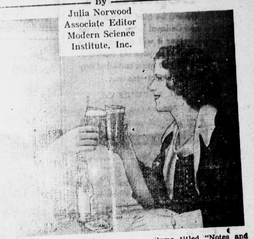
Our Present Day Customs Go to Early Greeks and Romans

By Julia Norwood
Associate Editor Modern Science Institute, Inc.



In a volume titled "Notes and Queries" published in London in 1872 I found still another description regarding the touching of glasses when drinking healths. It states, "This custom originated with the monks, who, when three of them were about to drink together, used to touch their glasses two, side by side, and the other over the three together forming a sort of triangle with the base downwards, which custom had some reference to the Holy Trinity."

Returning to the Romans, we find that the young men of that time had a pretty drinking custom. Among them it was quite the vogue to drink as many glasses of wine as there were letters in their sweetheart's name. Woe, to the fellow who was in love with a young lady with such a name as "Wilhelmina Krautermuster" and beat on counting the practice of the early Romans.

Regardless of how these individual customs originated, I suppose, we can look upon a revival of the happy spirit not for us by the early Greeks and Romans. So, if you clink your friends as they are drinking a bottle of beer or a cocktail, think here's mud in your eye, or "To your health, my dear," you can do so and say, "Well, after all, it's a grand old custom, isn't it?"
